

Deny Non-Strikers Admittance To Steel Plants For Work

TROOPS CALLED OUT TO PREVENT REOPENING MILLS

Executives of Steel Companies Called To Meet With Board

PRESIDENT ENTERS INTO THE SITUATION

Quick Moves Are Made In Endeavor To Reach a Settlement

By The Associated Press.

CLEVELAND, June 22.—President Roosevelt's steel mediation board left for Youngstown, Ohio, this afternoon to talk with Frank Purnell, president of the strike-closed Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co.

Charles P. Taft, chairman, said the board wanted to talk with Purnell about some of the questions raised at yesterday's conference with steel executives about the terms of an agreement with John L. Lewis' steel workers organizing committee.

Taft implied that the basic issue—contract or no contract—was not meant.

Taft also announced that Eugene Grace, president of Bethlehem Steel, Wilfred Sykes, assistant to the president of Inland Steel, R. J. Wysox, president of Republic Steel and Purnell would meet the board here tomorrow at noon.

Tom Girdler, chairman of Republic, had been called to Washington, Taft said, and Wysox would act for him "with full power and authority." The board also would confer with Wysox and other Republic officials at 11 a. m. tomorrow, Taft said.

The disclosure Girdler had been called to Washington aroused speculation in steel circles, in view of the interest President Roosevelt has expressed in mediating the strike. Offices of Republic Steel Corp. declined any information as to the purpose of Girdler's trip.

CLEVELAND, June 22.—President Roosevelt's steel mediation board conferred with John L. Lewis, C. I. O. chief, today and called executives of four strike-affected companies to another meeting Wednesday as officers denied non-striking workers admittance to plants at Youngstown and steel helmeted strike troopers arrived to enforce Governor Davey's ban on reopening.

The first contingents of a force of 4,800 men state troops deployed along a 25-mile front in the Mahoning Valley to end a night of fear and forestall what Lewis had called "contemplated butchery" at the scheduled reopening of four steel mills in defiance of Lewis' steel union.

"Easy now, you mugs," a National guard officer admonished the strikers. "We're not here to break the picket lines. We're here to see to it that nobody goes to work."

"We've won the strike!" was the unionists' cry.

"We'll have a signed contract in our pockets before the first of next week," Charles Fagan, a district leader, told 500 cheering C. I. O. men.

Three thousand spectators watched as police sent home the anti-striking workers, who arrived with their lunch pails.

"There isn't going to be any work," a police captain shouted. "The mills are staying closed. Go on home."

Grumbling, the men departed.

The Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company said it had received petitions "from almost 9,000 employees requesting that the plants be reopened." It normally employs between 15,000 and 18,000 men.

Optimistic For Settlement

Chairman Charles P. Taft of the mediation board expressed optimism as to the board's chances of bringing a settlement.

Taft said the steel executives, before they left their first meeting with the board yesterday had told him of their willingness to come back at the board's request. A spokesman for the steel men had said previously they had no intention of returning voluntarily.

Taft said the decision of Youngstown Sheet and Tube and Republic plants this morning also contributed to the chances for a settlement.

Lewis said he would return by plane to Washington, but would return to Cleveland at the board's request.

The steel men invited to meet with the board again were Tom Girdler, chairman of Republic Steel; Eugene Grace, chairman of Bethlehem Steel; Frank Purnell, president of Youngstown Sheet and

SOON KNOW ON CHANGE IN WPA

By The Associated Press.

JEFFERSON CITY, June 22.—Matthew Murray, state WPA director, said today the proposed consolidation of WPA districts would not be ready for announcement "before Thursday."

"I expect to have definite word from Washington by Thursday," Murray said.

Reduction of the number of administrative districts from 11 to "five or six" is a part of the plan, Murray said recently.

RELIEF MEASURE GIVEN APPROVAL BY THE SENATE

Amendment To Turn The Problem Over To States Is Defeated

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 22.—The senate approved today the administration's $1,500,000,000 relief bill, winding up six days of heated controversy.

Before voting passage without a record of the ayes and noes, the senate defeated overwhelmingly an amendment by Senator Vandenberg (R., Mich.), to turn the relief problem over to the states.

The bill goes back to the house for action on numerous senate amendments.

As approved by the senate the measure provides a two-year extension of the public works administration. Last-minute amendments submitted by Senator Thomas (D., Okla.), increased by $10,000,000 to $340,000,000 the limit on authority of the PWA to use its revolving funds for grants and loans for additional construction projects.

An amendment by Senator Bridges (R., Maine), to cut the appropriation to $1,000,000,000 was defeated with shouts of "no."

The efforts yesterday to require specified contributions from communities for relief projects likewise were defeated.

The vote on the Bridges amendment came after Senator Vandenberg (R., Mich.), told the senate that "indefinitely continued deficits pile up the raw materials of a suicidal inflation."

To offered as a substitute for the administration's $1,500,000,000 relief bill a measure to provide $1,250,000,000 in grants to the states.

JOE LOUIS GETS HIS BIG CHANCE IN RING TONIGHT

Negro Is 5 to 2 Favorite to Beat Jim Braddock and Lift Title

QUICK KNOCKOUT IS CHALLENGER'S HOPE

Many Believe the Champ Will Win If He Gets Past Ezrly Rounds

By CHARLES DUNKLEY

CHICAGO, June 22.—Joe Louis, sleepy-eyed son of an Alabama cotton picker, gets his greatest opportunity tonight.

In a flood-lighted ring at Comiskey park, home of the Chicago White Sox, Louis, the modern ring's most spectacular figure, battles James J. Braddock, untested heavy-weight champion of the world. Watching them will be a crowd that may go as high as 60,000, with gate receipts that may reach $750,000.

Little Difference in Weights

Braddock scaled 197 pounds and Louis tipped the beam at 197½ pounds shortly after noon today as they weighed in officially.

The Negro scaled exactly six pounds under his weight for the fight in which he barely outpointed Bob Pastor in New York five months ago. This indicated to observers that the erstwhile Brown Bomber had trained down to the fine condition that marked his knockout of Max Baer, two years ago, after Baer lost the crown to Braddock.

Perfect weather—clear and crisp—accompanied the final flurry of preparations and formalities for Chicago's first big title scap in ten years.

After undressing in rooms on opposite sides of the stage, the champion and challenger shook hands as they met at the scales.

Louis Has Ten-Day Beard

The only conversation between them, so far as could be overheard, was Braddock's wisecrack: "Hey, Joe, you need a shave."

Louis had a ten days' growth of beard. The Negro was characteristically impassive. The champion, equally calm, appeared in better humor, however, and chatted with his handlers.

Both principals were pronounced in "A-1" condition by the medical examiners for the Illinois State Athletic Commission. Dr. Frank A. Lagorio and Dr. T. R. Hinchion.

Braddock's blood pressure and pulse both were considerably higher than his rival's but the physicians said that was due to the difference in their ages. Braddock is 31 and Louis 23.

The champion's blood pressure was 132 over 78, his pulse 80. Louis registered 124 over 68, with a pulse of 68.

"I'm in shape, Joe's in shape and there will be a hell of a fight out there tonight," said Braddock as the principals were taken before the microphones.

"I hope to win," Louis said.

It will be the first time that a Negro has had the opportunity of winning the world heavyweight championship since Jack Johnson battered the shell of James J. Jeffries into helplessness in Reno back in 1910. It also will be the first "mixed match" involving the title since Jess Willard defeated Johnson in Havana 22 years ago.

The fight will be held in the heart of Chicago's black-belt with its 250,000 Negroes. To prevent any racial disturbances that may result in rioting, 1,000 policemen will be on guard, 400 within the arena and 600 outside the park walls with reserves in readiness.

SHRINER'S WIFE IS INJURED BY BATON

By The Associated Press.

DETROIT, June 22.—Struck on the head by a drum major's baton Mrs. Mildred Swindelhurst of Erie, Pa., wife of a Shriner attending the imperial council here, was in a hospital today while X-ray reports were awaited to determine her exact injuries.

The baton whirled from the fingers of Drum Major Sam Miller of the Aaarat Temple band of Kansas City, Mo., during a hotel lobby performance last night and flew 20 feet.

Miller said the baton slipped from the side of his hand, shooting outward instead of upward as he twirled it. Band members said it was Miller's first mishap in 15 years of performances with the baton.

RETURN FROM T. P. A. CONVENTION

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Bahrenburg, 907 West Broadway, returned Monday night from Atlanta, Ga., where Mr. Bahrenburg attended the national convention of the Travelers' Protective Association. He is, and has been for fifteen years, secretary-treasurer of the Sedalia Post F. T. P. A., and he attended the convention as a representative and delegate from the state organization.

Mr. Bahrenburg said that they were entertained royally and certainly enjoyed the true southern hospitality. He said that the reports at the convention showed a nice increase in membership as well as a financial gain, due, it was believed to the improved business conditions in all parts of the country. The traffic safety committee reported that statistics showed there were fewer accidents than in the previous year and they told of their safety campaign.

Ben Thompson, of Evansville, Ind., was elected national president and Omaha, Neb., was chosen as the meeting place for the 1938 convention.

Mr. and Mrs. Bahrenburg made the trip both ways by train and asserted that they were most comfortable in the air cooled cars.

SAILENT POINTS IN THE RAILROAD RETIREMENT ACT

Purposes of The Measure Passed By House and Sent To Senate

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 22.—What is the purpose of the Wagner-Crosby railroad retirement bill passed by the house yesterday and sent to the senate?

To provide pensions for employees on retirement from railroad service because of age or disability.

Who would be eligible for pensions?

(1) Retired workers 65 years of age or older; (2) Retired workers 60 years of age with 30 years' service; (3) Workers 60 years of age permanently disabled for regular employment; (4) Workers with 30 years' service who are permanently disabled, regardless of age.

How would pensions be computed?

By multiplying the years of service by a figure representing two per cent of the first $50 of monthly compensation, 1½ per cent of the next $50 and one per cent of the next $150. For example a worker 65 years of age with 20 years' service and an average monthly salary of $150, would receive a monthly pension of $50.

Does the bill provide a maximum pension?

For those workers who count service prior to 1937 the maximum is $120. There is no limit on pensions based on services after that date.

Does it provide minimum pensions?

Yes, an employee 65 or more with at least 20 years' service would get at least $40 if his average monthly compensation was $50 or more. If his average monthly compensation was less than $50, he would get at least 80 per cent. If the monthly average was less than $20 the pension would be equal to that average.

What would happen to workers retired under private pension plans of the railroads?

They would be taken over by the government pension system.

What death benefits would be provided?

Four per cent of the compensation earned after December 31, 1936, less any amount paid to the employee or his widow as a pension.

How would the pensions and benefits be paid?

From the federal treasury. A tax starting this year at 5.5 per cent on the workers' income up to $300 a month would be shared equally by the worker and the railroads. The tax would increase to 7.5 per cent by 1949.

Would an employee be required to retire at 65?

No, but he would not be given an added pension for service after reaching the retirement age.

Blow By Blow Report to Be Given of Braddock-Louis Fight Tonight

The 15-round heavyweight boxing championship match tonight, between James J. Braddock, world's champion, and Joe Louis, Negro challenger, will be announced to local boxing fans blow-by-blow over the Democrat and Capital's public address system.

The description of the fight, scheduled to start between 8:30 and 9:00 p. m. Sedalia time, will come direct from the ringside at the White Sox baseball park in Chicago, over the Democrat and Capital's leased wire of the Associated Press.

The report from Chicago will be made by the Associated Press sports experts, Alan J. Gould, Eddie Brietz and Paul Mickelson, who have followed the activities of both fighters since their training programs were launched several weeks ago.

BLUM APPEALS TO SOCIALISTS

By The Associated Press.

PARIS, June 22.—Leon Blum urged the Socialist party today to participate in the cabinet that Camille Chautemps is trying to form as a second people's front government.

"We cannot refuse to participate in a people's government headed by a radical Socialist," the former premier adviser his followers at a party council. "We must preserve the people's front majority."

The radical Socialists were the most moderate element in the coalition government which Blum headed until his resignation yesterday.

Formation of a Chautemps cabinet was viewed by high government authorities as a virtual certainty.

Mark Dormoy, Socialist minister of the interior in the Blum cabinet, was expected to keep his office.

An announcement at the French embassy at Washington stated Georges Bonnet, financial expert recently named as ambassador to the United States, had been named finance minister in an attempt to straighten out France's snarled affairs.

LETTER FROM THE WATER COMPANY SENT TO MAYOR

Figures Presented On Rates Reductions and Valuation

Letter from the Water Company Sent To Mayor

A letter to Mayor Julian H. Bagby, from the Sedalia Water Company, with reference to a reduction of rates in the City of Sedalia, referred to by the mayor in the meeting of the city council Monday night, reads in part:

"It has been the policy of the management of the company to make reductions voluntarily in its rate schedule from time to time as operating conditions would permit. The last reduction was made effective August 1, 1936 in anticipation of the refinancing of the fund debt of the company which was completed December, 1936. This policy of reducing rates, when it is possible to do so, is substantiated in the following voluntary rate reductions which have been made effective since November 1, 1926.

January 1, 1930—Reduction in Fire Hydrant Rental from $90.00 to $80.00 each per annum, $360.

January 1, 1930—Reduction in Service Charges ½ meter from $0.00 to 70c per month, and on other size meters accordingly, $4500.

August 1, 1931—Reduction to users of over 1,000,000 gallons per month, $1422.

August 1, 1932—Reduction in fire hydrant rental from $90.00 to $80.00 each per annum, $2960.

February 1, 1934—Reduction in fire hydrant rental from $80.00 to $75.00 each per annum, $1180.

August 1, 1936—Reduction in metered schedule of rates and sprinkler system rates, $6008.

Total rate reductions $19670.

"As of June 30, 1936 by Order in Case No. 4019 the Public Service Commission of Missouri established the rate making value of the properties of the Sedalia Water Company at $1,269,000, and fixed the rate of return upon said value at seven and one-half per cent (7½%) per annum, plus one per cent per annum on the depreciable property in value for depreciation. The finding of the above value for rate making

MAY TAKE ACTION TO RID CITY OF RISKY BUILDINGS

City Building Inspector Gives Report at Council Meeting

WATER CO. REFUSES A RATE REDUCTION

Mayor Bagby Refers The Matter Back To a Special Committee

Mayor Julian H. Bagby, members of the city council, City Counselor Fred Wesner, City Engineer Elmer Herrmann and Building Inspector J. D. Satterfield held a lengthy discussion, at the regular meeting of the city council Monday night, on what they termed "the unsafe condition" of a number of Sedalia buildings. This followed an oral report by Satterfield on the condition of a number of structures in the business district, many of which he stated should be repaired to avoid possible injury to the public.

All were unanimous in the opinion that something should be done about two or three of the buildings mentioned by Satterfield, but the legal phase of any proposed action was explained by Mr. Wesner, and they found only one course open, that of litigation in the circuit court, which they decided to take.

Mr. Wesner will probably file a petition in the circuit court asking for action of the court to prevent the use of the specified building, or buildings, or at least for permission to erect a barricade which would be a warning to the public of the unsafe condition. Inspection will first be made by a committee of five persons.

Mayor Bagby announced receipt of a letter to himself and the city council from the Sedalia Water Company, in which, he said, "The Water Company refused the recent request of the city council for a reduction of water rates in Sedalia, and at the same time indicated that it did not intend to cooperate in any effort to reach any settlement of the water rate question."

The mayor stated it was his opinion that the city and its citizens were entitled to a reduction and referred the matter back to the special committee of the council, Aldermen Timbhorious, Fulkerson and Summers, recently appointed to look into the question of reduction of water rates. He requested that the committee further investigate and study the situation and make its further report and recommendations to the mayor and council for further action, and steps to be taken in the matter.

The letter appears elsewhere in this paper.

The resignation of E. J. Donnelly as a member of the hospital board was announced.

Mayor Bagby placed before the council the name of J. H. Brooks for appointment as a police officer, which was approved by the body.

R. M. Battles, West Main street merchant, made a written and personal request for five new white lights in the 200 block on West Main street, stating that the merchants and property owners there pay $4260 annually in city licenses. He stated that it is one of the most important business blocks in the city and he hoped the council would see fit to grant the request. Mayor Bagby replied that they would like very much to install the lights, but they did not know where the necessary funds would come from.

Two ordinances were read for the first time, changing the beer licenses, 3.2 per cent from $15 to $35 and 5.2 per cent from $15 to $50. Action will be taken on them at a later meeting.

It was voted to enforce the ordinance prohibiting the erection of temporary signs over the sidewalks and streets without a permit, and streets by signs or merchandise, so this ordinance it was decided to add parkways, as well as streets and sidewalks.

Alderman Timbhorious requested permission for the street and alley department to spend $225 or $250 for the materials to repair the street at Second and Missouri avenue, which was granted.

Raymond Fettes, sanitary officer reported the city would have to find a new dump or "put an extension on the present one." Space there is becoming limited and the sanitary committee, Alderman Pinkepank, chairman, will give consideration to the matter.

Alderman Timbhorious requested that an ordinance be prepared, to be read at the next meeting, increasing the charge for city weighing from 10 cents per load to 20 cents per load, with 5 cents extra for a trailer. This suggestion was made, he said, because Sedalia's rate is lower than most other places.

Alderman Summers called the attention of the council and the city engineer to a low place in the street on Thirteenth, east of the Katy tracks, and to the sidewalk on the northeast corner of Fifth and Hancock.

SEDALIA KIWANIS CLUB IS HOST TO BOONVILLE GROUP

Dinner-Dance, Held in Con- junction With Nation- al Program

More than a hundred Kiwanis Queens and members of the Sedalia and Boonville Iwanis Clubs took part in a joint meeting at the Hotel Bothwell Monday night. An entertaining program followed a delightful dinner and the meeting was climaxed with a dance in the Ambassador Room.

At 9:45 o'clock the address of the International President was heard by radio from the national convention being held in Indianapolis this week. This was his official address for "All Kiwanis Night", on which the Sedalia and Boonville Clubs had selected as a fitting date on which to meet.

The presidents of both clubs were absent because of their attendance at the International Kiwanis Convention at Indianapolis. Other than President Charles Hanley of the Sedalia Club, I. H. Reed, Jules T. Alexander and Tom Yount are in Indianapolis.

Guy Callender, vice president of the Sedalia Club presided as toastmaster. Roll call following the dinner, found an unusually large representation of Sedalia Club members and the Kiwanis Queens present, and also called for the following introductions of visitors from the Boonville Club: Mr. and Mrs. Leo McShane, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Ginrich, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Schupp, Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Maxwell, Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Kelly, Dr. and Mrs. W. E. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. John Toennes, Rev. and Mrs. E. F. Abele, L. O. Schamberg, Mr. and Mrs. George Alexander, Dr. and Mrs. E. W. Chamberlain and Dr. and Mrs. W. E. Stone. The introductions were made by Dr. Stone, vice president of the Boonville Club.

Music was furnished during the dinner and for the evening's entertainment by Nellie Monegan's orchestra.

The Lincoln High School Sextette under the direction of Prof. C. C. Hubbard was heard in several numbers which included "spirituals" as well as popular songs. The sextette was composed of Misses Carole Cline, Geraldine Jones, Joan Greene, Helen Shelton, Margie Overton and Mayne Richardson. They were accompanied by Miss L. Viola Kinney director of music at Lincoln High School, assisted by Miss Georgia Banks.

The after dinner program presented by Interclubs Relations Chairman Hugo Sparr and Program Chairman for the month, Ruddy Shellhorn, was as follows: Songs by Miss Jane Collins, Sedalia's popular silver noted songster; a reading by Katherine Labahn; a song and dance by Betty Jean Truitt, Betty Joe Tharp and Corrine Baum and a novelty "Roller Skate Tap Dance Number" by the three girls above, pupils of Spookie Fischer's Dancing Academy. The latter number was extremely popular and the members in their response of several encores. In the absence of Jules T. Alexander, the songs of the evening were under the direction of Kiwanian W. W. Storey.

An unscheduled high light of the evening was the presentation of a scroll to the members of the Boonville Club from C. O. Botz past president of the Sedalia Club. The scroll being written in Chinese was translated by Kiwanian Botz as a famous quotation by Socrates, however the Boonville Club members intend to check-up on Mr. Botz as soon as a Chinese Laundry can be located.

An expression of pleasure on the part of the Sedalia Club to have the Boonville members and their Kiwanis Queens present was wholeheartedly expressed by Vice President Guy Callender and a most cordial welcome to return for another such enjoyable occasion in the future was extended.

MANIPULATION IS ALLEGED TO CUT INCOME TAXES

Six New Yorkers Alleged To Have Taken Insurance In Bahamas

BORROWED TO GET DEDUCTIONS MADE

Testimony Dissention In Big Law Firm Due Practice

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 22.—A senate-house inquiry committee received testimony today that six New Yorkers bought big insurance policies in a Bahamas company in an effort to reduce income tax payments between 1932 and 1936.

Nelson B. Leming, a treasury attorney, testifying at the congressional investigation into tax evasion and avoidance, explained what he termed "the device of foreign insurance companies" for escaping tax payments.

By this method, he said, taxpayers paid single premiums for large policies, then borrowed on the policies and took interest deductions on the loans.

The six New York brokers were listed as follows:

Richard E. Dwight, attorney, with a $4,000,000 policy.

Winfield Ayres, a doctor, $400,000 policy.

Henry W. Lowe, insurance broker, $2,500,000 policy.

Lawrence Marx, cotton broker, one $2,500,000 policy in 1934, and another $2,500,000 policy in 1936.

Jacob W. Schwab, cotton broker, one $1,500,000 and one $1,000,000 policy.

George Thoms, attorney, $875,000 policy.

Leming said the policies all were taken out with the Standard Insurance Company, Ltd., of the Bahamas.

Leming said Dwight reduced his 1932 income tax payment by $53,448.48 through the insurance company device.

Report On Dissention

Testimony was developed that the reported manipulation and resultant negotiations between Dwight and the treasury had caused dissention in the New York law firm of Hughes, Schurman and Dwight, dissolution of which was announced recently.

Morrison Shafroth, internal revenue bureau general counsel, said that early this year a tax attorney had come to his office and asserted that Hughes had threatened to break up the law firm unless the tax difficulty was straightened out.

The lawyer, he said, asked that the bureau accept an oral order of payment of the back taxes plus interest, but the bureau decided that agents should go first to the Bahamas and investigate the entire matter.

Leming said for the period, 1932-35, the bureau decided Dwight owed $230,388.74 in taxes.

Commissioner Guy T. Helvering of the internal revenue bureau testified that "an offer of payment was made at my office two weeks ago."

He said the offer covered payment of the deductions for insurance loans, plus interest, but not the 50 per cent penalty.

After Leming introduced an ex-

AIRPORT BE HELPFUL

There are a number of reasons why Sedalia should maintain a municipal airport.

It would list Sedalia among other important cities in the United States that have city airports.

It would equip the city with facilities to take care of passenger and private planes flying over this area.

In the future it may possibly develop into a scheduled stopping over station for planes leaving Chicago bound for Wichita, Tulsa, Oklahoma City and points southwest.

If the city should decide to support a municipal airport, it would mean leasing or purchasing the land and placing safety lights at 40 foot intervals around the field and possibly constructing a hangar.

A large beacon light and a weather bureau giving hourly reports would be furnished by the Department of Commerce.

It is pointed out that ships leaving Chicago for the southwest are forced to fly many miles out of the way to refuel and reach a stopping over place.

Mr. J. Cox of the Department of Commerce at St. Louis said recently while inspecting the private airport here that the location and grounds were ideal for a landing field.

Inasmuch as the Webber airport is established and has proved satisfactory, it might be practical for the city to lease or buy that site for a municipal airport.

THE CANCER SITUATION

The question as to whether the death rate from cancer is or is not on the increase in this country is of decidedly secondary importance to the immense quantitative aspects of the cancer problem as it affects modern populations the world over, says Frederick L. Hoffman, of the Franklin Institute, Philadelphia.

To say that the situation is not alarming is to lull the public into a false sense of security which needs must hinder the progress of research into the underlying causative factors as well as into better methods of diagnosis, treatment and measures of prevention. For 187 American cities the mortality from this dreadful scourge shows an increase from 57,897 in 1935 to 60,327 in 1936.

The death rate from cancer in the United States rose from ninety-six in the period 1926-30 to 103.6 in the period 1931-35. In the five largest American cities it has risen from 130.1 to 135.6.

Regular physical examinations are in the way of protection against cancer. A physician going carefully over a patient who is willing to tell everything may discover conditions which indicate that immediate treatment, or an immediate operation, will assure a longer life. Methods of treatment have improved and are being improved, but the medical profession understands that much remains to be done. The campaign against cancer is being waged vigorously over all the United States and the scientists in laboratories are striving to assist the sufferers.

JAPAN REFUSES TO LIMIT

President Roosevelt's request that the Japanese government agree to limitation of naval armament to fourteen-inch guns has been refused. Britain's similar request had already been refused. Japan will be bound by no agreement. It insists on building and equipping its navy to suit itself. If the other powers wish to use guns no larger than fourteen-inch pieces, that is their business.

Under the Washington treaty of 1922 and the London treaty of 1930, there was a ratio of quantitative strength of 5-5-3 for the United States, Great Britain and Japan. With the expiration of these treaties December 31, 1936, a world naval building race began. Japan appears to be ambitious to have a navy second to none afloat and has been spending prodigiously. Great Britain is building a more powerful navy. So is the United States. So is Italy. Germany has repudiated the Treaty of Versailles and is increasing its naval strength. The French are in the race. The Russians have been concentrating on their army and their aircraft.

Japan's refusal to limit its armament to fourteen-inch guns means that other powers will arm their battleships with sixteen-inch ordnance and that might over right will be the international rule. Preparedness on scale is being carried forward by European nations and by Japan. The cost of this naval building race will be upon the peoples. None of the European nations, or the Japanese, can afford their naval extravagance, but that cannot be helped. The European nations have not yet paid for the world war. They are too poor to pay the United States for loans during and after the war.

A REMEDY NEEDED

From Hannibal Courier-Post.

Owners of railroads, the stockholders, as well as the public will see distinct value in the efforts of Senator Harry S. Truman to reveal the abuses of the roads themselves by some of the remote management they have been forced to undergo in the past. He does well in distinguishing between direct operation and control and pulling strings by some holding group.

Senator Truman's recent speech portrayed with force some of the abuses that have existed. His sub-committee performed a service in calling attention to such phases of the situation as were discussed by the Missourian in a section of his speech relating to division of responsibility between those who acquire financial control, such as has been revealed in the case of the Van Sweringen, and the real operating management.

He went on to show that finances of the Missouri Pacific railroad were manipulated on orders by the Van Sweringen group from Cleveland "in such a way as to disobey the laws affecting financial reports to the Interstate Commerce Commission, and without the knowledge of Mr. Baldwin, the operating president of the road, or Mr. Johnson, vice president in charge of Missouri Pacific finances."

"We had Mr. Johnson before our committee," said Senator Truman, "and he did not know of half the transactions with the funds of the Missouri Pacific which had taken place through the Van Sweringens' treasurer. Income of the railroad was used by the Van Sweringen holding companies to buy the Missouri Pacific's own stock for the holding companies to gain and hold control."

Thus, not only are the rank and file of investors in the railroads of this character, deprived of earnings of the companies, but they find the concerns they are a part of held up to adverse criticism for their scheme of operation, because of speculative activities which they cannot control. More than that, there is an unfair reflection upon railroads that are making efforts in their real industrial field, to operate as they should, because of this minority group of companies that have fallen into such control. If Senator Truman's committee is able to remedy this situation it will be doing a service to the industry as well as the public.

PEACE WITHOUT ARMS

From Ohio State Journal.

Six score of years of peace without arms along the United States-Canadian border are celebrated. There came an end to fortifications after the war of 1812 was over and its hates had died away, and an agreement was entered into by the two nations to maintain no border defenses.

Such an arrangement between nations is unusual. Negotiations of the peaceful solution was hailed in its time, 1817, as a great feat of diplomacy. The proposal, it is interesting to note, came from Richard Rush, American painter and active secretary of state, and was made to Sir Charles Bagot, British ambassador, and by that diplomat accepted.

It is also worthy of remark that there really is no treaty, but only an agreement that has been kept by both sides for a century and a fifth. Every dispute that has arisen has been settled by arbitration, and there has been no great incident to roll the people on either side of the border.

It ought not to be overlooked, of course, that here are not two alien peoples, but two nations of very much the same origin, of the same democratic ideals and of identical language. The usual causes of friction are absent. Indeed, it often has been suggested that ultimately the people of Canada might come into the American nation, leaving the British family. Probably this will never come to pass, but so long as the spirit of the dominion and the republic remains what it is, there will be no bristling of bayonets and no mounting of cannon, and peace without arms will continue.

The MOUTHPIECE

By EDGAR WALLACE and ROBERT CURTIS

CHAPTER 34

"JACQUELINE," said Colonel Lutman as he was about to leave his apartment after again declaring she would not marry him, "I'm not suggesting that you should marry Jim Asson."

She shot him a quick glance of amazement.

"Does that surprise you?" he smiled. "My dear, if you imagine for one moment that I would have you marry Asson against your own inclination, you don't know me. This morning, I admit, you took me by surprise, and I said a good many things in the heat of the moment which must, I'm afraid, have given you a wrong impression of me. There is no question of bullying or threatening you. It needed only a little calm reflection to convince me that, since you feel as you do about Jim, marriage with him is out of the question. Neither of you would be happy, and it would distress me to feel that I was in any way responsible for the unhappy state of affairs. As a matter of fact, I am very far from sorry that you have definitely decided not to marry Jim."

Jacqueline could only gaze at him in utter bewilderment. "Jim, I'm afraid, is very much upset about it," continued the Colonel. "I saw him this morning after leaving you, and broke the news to him. It hit him pretty hard, but he took it like a gentleman."

Jacqueline's lips were a little scornful, but she made no remark. "But one man's loss is another man's gain," went on the Colonel, "and I'm afraid I can't pretend to be sorry. Jim, of course, is a very wealthy young man, and I can't hope to compete with him financially; but I am very comfortably off, and I can well afford to make your mother a substantial allowance, and if anything should happen to me you would be well provided for."

For some moments Jacqueline stared at him in amazement. Then she smiled faintly, and a hint of amusement showed in her eyes. "Colonel Lutman," she said, "are you suggesting that I should marry you?"

Lutman laid a hand on hers as it rested on her knee. "My dear, why not?" he said, and slipped an arm around her shoulders. "You don't realize, Jacqueline, how beautiful you are—your eyes, your hair, your lips. You have adorable lips, Jacqueline—lips that were made for kissing."

She felt his breath on her cheek and his arm drawing her toward him, saw the look in his eyes, and instinctively stiffened herself to resist; but with sudden irresistible strength he swept her to him, and his lips were crushed against hers. The next instant she had wrenched herself free and sprung to her feet. For a moment she stood facing him with flaming cheeks and furious eyes; and then her arm flashed back and forward and her clenched fist struck him full in the mouth.

He jumped to his feet, with hands clenched, his mouth grim, that hard, steely look in his eyes. Jacqueline stepped quickly backward. But with an obvious effort he mastered himself, adjusted his eyeglasses and reproduced his genial smile. "And is that your answer, Jacqueline?"

"Yes, it is," he shrugged. "I'm old-fashioned," he said. "I was not aware that the modern young lady could decline a proposal of marriage with such delightful subtlety."

"You know now, Colonel Lutman," he nodded.

"I've always heard," he smiled, "that experience is a hard mistress, and now I'm prepared to believe it."

A little trickle of blood came from his lips where her knuckles

"Colonel Lutman, are you suggesting I should marry you?"

had forced it against his teeth, and went slithering down his chin. He dabbed his mouth with a handkerchief, saw the stain, and shook his head ruefully.

"If you will excuse me, my dear," he said, "I will retire to the bathroom and staunch my wounds; and then we will have a cup of tea together and a round-table conference."

"There's no need of any conference, Colonel Lutman. Nothing you can say will make me change my mind."

The Colonel raised a deprecatory hand.

"It doesn't do to be too sure, my dear," he said. "I suggest that you should at least wait and hear what I have to say. I feel sure you will find it—er—interesting."

"All right, I'll wait," Jacqueline promised, and Lutman hurried from the room.

For some moments the girl stood frowning, as if she had some grudge against it, at the door through which he had gone out; and then her eyes lighted up, and she glanced toward the desk in the window bay, glanced back at the door, and suddenly went swiftly across the room. Lutman had left the door ajar, and she saw that the key was on the outside. Very cautiously she withdrew it and transferred it to the inside. Then, noiselessly closing the door, she slowly turned the key. The lock slipped over without a sound.

Without a second's hesitation the girl turned, strode to the writing desk, ran her eyes swiftly over it, noted that there were three drawers in the desk, and pulled open the right hand one. Pipes, a tobacco pouch, a bundle of pipe-cleaners—that was all. She shut it, pulled open the left-hand drawer, and gave a start of surprise. Among a medley of odds and ends lay a small revolver. She picked it up, glanced at it, saw that it was loaded, and promptly replaced it and shut the drawer.

She grasped the handle of the middle drawer, pulled, discovered that it was locked, and gave a little gasp of exasperation. Her glance went swiftly round the room in search of some implement that might serve her purpose and came to rest on a long, thin, steel paper knife, of the type commonly used for sitting open envelopes.

She picked it up eagerly, forced the blade between the top edge of the

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY GO ROUND

TRADE MARK REGISTERED

WASHINGTON — Behind-the-scenes developments indicate that Senator Bob Wagner's long-pending low-cost housing bill is again headed for the waste-paper basket.

Since 1934 the tenacious New York liberal has been trying to put through legislation for a great Government-subsidized program of slum clearance and modern housing for low-salaried workers. In each session of Congress he has started out with high hopes of success, only to wind up in the ditch.

This year prospects appeared particularly bright. The President had repeatedly pledged housing legislation during his reelection campaign, and Wagner had made changes in his bill to meet previous objections. At long last victory seemed in sight.

The rosy outlook, however, was only a mirage. The financial experts of the Treasury, who have been Wagner's most persistent and effective foes, raised new objections and the President apparently did not read into his electioneering promises what Wagner saw in them. When Wagner came to him for Administration backing for his measure, the President ducked the issue by suggesting that he first work out a compromise with the Treasury.

That was equivalent to asking him to perform a miracle. Wagner and the treasury moguls simply do not talk the same language on housing.

Treasury Plan

He sees the problem solely as a social one. They view it wholly as a matter of dollars and cents. They insist his plan is financially unsound. He contends that cheap housing can be furnished low-income groups only if the Government bears a considerable portion of the cost.

They were worlds apart in January when they started conferring, and nearly six months of discussion brought them no closer together. Finally, with the session in its closing stages and his bill still buried deep in committee, Wagner a few days ago again pleaded to the President for help.

The President told him he would get busy at once. He did. He turned the matter over to Charles West, his amiable, ineffectual, yes-says congressional liaison man. That means that the chances for Wagner's bill emerging from committee are practically nil.

Meanwhile the Treasury has secretly submitted to the President a scheme of its own, under which the Wagner measure would be junked and the Public Works Administration given a slight increase in power so that it could somewhat expand its housing operations.

By All Means

During the hearings before the Senate Post Office Committee on the Guffey resolution for an investigation of the steel strike, Senator Josiah Bailey subjected Philip Murray, C. I. O. leader, to a long and hostile grilling. As he was concluding, the North Carolinian remarked:

"Of course, Mr. Murray, you understand I am trying to be fair in this matter."

To which a voice in the rear retorted: "Refer that to the 'By-All-Means Department.'"

Safety in Numbers

The seven-man "steering committee," set up by Senate foes of the President's court bill to direct their floor battle against it, is an unusual parliamentary device. There were two reasons behind the action:

First was the desire to head off the vaunting ambition of Senator Ed Burke to be the big-shot generalissimo of the court bill opposition. The Nebraska had acted as "front man" during the Judiciary Committee hearings, had worked hard and tirelessly. He felt he was entitled to lead the fight on the Senate floor.

But the other opposition leaders didn't consider him big enough for the job. Burke has had no experience directing a major parliamentary contest, and in addition he is none too fast on his feet. All were agreed they needed an able and more tried leader, but the problem was whom to pick and how to shelve Burke without offending him. The steering committee device solves the problem.

Secondly, none of Burke's colleagues wanted to take the political risk of being the No. 1 opposition chief.

Behind their buoyant exteriors, some of the anti-privately are very jittery about their split with Roosevelt, and chary about sticking their necks out farther than they have to. So on the theory that in "numbers there is safety" they resorted to the committee scheme, which at the same time enabled them to el-how Burke out of the limelight without sending him into a sulk.

Note—The real brains of the opposition is Republican Floor Leader Charles McNary, one of the most astute political strategists in the country. The wily Oregonian has carefully kept in the background throughout the court fight, but the Democrats leading the opposition have made no move without first consulting him.

Murphy's Religion

Governor Frank Murphy of Michigan was having lunch at a Detroit hotel. An old friend was with him, and the two were engrossed in deep conversation when an attractive young woman rushed up to their table and sat down.

"Oh, Governor," she said, "I must speak to you. Your office would not let me in and I must have a talk with you. I have so much admiration for you. Here you are the Governor of this great State, with such tremendous problems facing you. I feel that you could meet them so much better if you followed God."

And she went on to explain in some detail the principle of Buddhism.

Foods Containing Iron

The best foods to supply iron are egg yolk and pigmented vegetables, such as spinach, carrots, etc. Cereals also contain a considerable amount of iron. It is here that the usefulness of the strained fruits and vegetables in infant feeding come in. These are now supplied by many manufacturing firms in canned form. Packed singly, they include asparagus, beets, carrots, celery, beans, peas, spinach and tomatoes. Strained fruits are also packed singly. Vegetable soups form a combination of strained vegetables, sometimes with cereal or beef broth.

These foods are well tolerated by nearly all babies, and digestive upsets from their use are rare. The digestive tract of the infant has to become used to these foods some time gradually and, therefore, large amounts cannot be fed at first. They soon get used to them, however, and thrive on them.

The manufactured articles make the vegetables into a finer state of division than can be obtained by ordinary household means.

The council on foods of the American Medical association is of the opinion that strained fruits and vegetables, because of their physical structure, are useful foods for infant feeding and for certain types of diet. They are good sources of Vitamin B, iron, and probably other necessary nutritional factors. There is also a psychological aspect in their use, which is that the baby at an early age should be taught to receive food from the spoon and to accept a variety of flavors and textures.

SOCIETY AND CLUBS

Garden Club Meeting
Garden club, circle three, met in regular session Friday at the home of Mrs. Ada Davis, with Mrs. G. W. Chambers and Mrs. John Harris assisting hostesses.

Following a dainty 1 o'clock luncheon members and guests were accorded the pleasure of hearing Mrs. Frank Kerswell describe the famous Kew Gardens of London, England.

In keeping with the outlined study of roses, a subject of universal interest, a small rose show for circle members was held. There were thirty-eight entries judged by Mrs. J. P. Hurtt, Mrs. George T. Lively and Mrs. J. H. Bagby.

The program, following the rose show, was instructive and entertaining.

Awards in the rose show went to: Classification of roses, Mrs. C. L. Carter; specimen roses, containers and arrangement, Mrs. T. E. Donaldson; old fashioned roses, Mrs. W. W. Wisdom, Sr.; and rose cutting, Mrs. R. L. McKean.

The following guests were present: Mrs. Frank Kerswell, Mrs. J. Ross Kindred, Mrs. W. P. Tucker, Mrs. Belle Stevens, Miss May Highleyman, Mrs. J. P. Hurtt, Mrs. George T. Lively, Mrs. J. E. Bagby, Mrs. Emmett Bagby, Mrs. L. M. Chambers, Mrs. Dora Wisdom and Miss Margaret Ferguson.

Miss Steeples Hostess

Miss Clara Steeples entertained at her home, 1401 South Carr avenue Monday night honoring Mrs. Harry Small, formerly Miss Nadine Robb, a recent bride, and Miss Louise Wasson, who will be married to Lester Choplin in the near future. The affair was a kitchen shower and both girls received many nice and useful gifts.

In the bridge game Mrs. Small won the award for high score and Miss Wasson for low.

Miss Steeples was assisted in entertaining, and serving refreshments by her mother, Mrs. Wilmer Steeples.

Dance Tonight

Miss Jane McEniry, 412 Dal-Whi-Mo Court, is entertaining her cousin, Miss Jean McEniry, and friend, Miss Kathryn Highman, who are from Houston, Texas, with a formal dance tonight at the Elks Club. About fifty couples have been invited.

All-Day Meet For Class

The Philathea class of the East Sedalia Baptist church will have its all-day meeting Thursday at the home of Mrs. Norman Tobaben of 1842 South Beacon avenue. All members are asked to contribute to the noonday lunch.

SHOWER TO MR. AND MRS. ROTHGANGER

A miscellaneous shower was given Sunday by Miss Elsie Harms and Miss Marie Mittenberg, assisted by Mrs. Charles Wise, for Mr. and Mrs. George Rothganger, Jr., at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mittenberg.

Many useful gifts were received from the following: Mr. and Mrs. George Rothganger, Mrs. Mildred French and children, Evelyn and Norman, Mr. and Mrs. J. Sievers and family of Malta Bend, Mrs. Robert Rogers, Mrs. Ed Wise, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wise and daughter, Barbara, Mr. and Mrs. George Ream, Mrs. Harry Young, Mr. and Mrs. James Reed, Mr. and Mrs. Raus Sprinkles and son Richard Leon, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mittenberg and family, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mittenberg and family, Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Braden and family, Misses Feral Sievers, Virginia Payne, Ruby Harms, Ruth Payne, Helen Ream, Pearl Payne, Joan Braden, Marie Mittenberg and Elsie Harms, with Carl Sievers, Bishop Ream, R. J. Young, Roy Ream, Eugene Sievers, Harvey Young, "Pete" Siard, Lester Sprinkles, Billy Young, Lawrence Rothganger and Johnny Mittenberg.

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Kabler, 804 North Missouri avenue, are parents of a seven pound daughter, born Saturday, June 19. She has been given the name Bessie Florence.

REQUIRE ACTION ON LEGISLATION BEFORE JULY 1

Concern Evident Over Vital Matters Nearing Deadline

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 22.—Congressional chieftains expressed concern today over the amount of vital legislation which must be passed by the end of the fiscal year, June 30. Their desire to recess from Thursday until next Monday, to permit Democratic members to meet with President Roosevelt at Jefferson Island, complicated the situation.

Half a dozen appropriation bills must be passed by July 1, or government agencies will have no money. The "nuisance" tax bill, which has passed the house but not the senate, has the same deadline.

Appropriation bills for the war and interior departments have not yet passed the senate. Other big money bills on which the senate and house have not reached a final agreement provide for the independent offices, the District of Columbia and the agriculture department.

Some legislators are seeking, without administration backing, to continue low emergency interest rates on farm credit administration loans beyond June 30. A bill has passed the house and is pending in the senate banking committee.

The relief bill, now before the senate, has a double deadline. It would provide $1,500,000,000 for federal relief during the next year, and would extend the life of the public works administration which is due to expire next week.

Two other suggestions to increase local responsibility were defeated by the senate yesterday. The house has passed the bill, but a committee must iron out differences between the house and senate versions.

Another administration bill with the June 30 deadline would extend the civilian conservation corps for three years. The house and senate still are differing over a few provisions.

SAY BEST DANCERS ARE KNOCK-KNEED

PASADENA, Calif., June 22.—Ginger Rogers and Fred Astaire both are knock-kneed.

The California Osteopathic Association today was told it was one of the secrets of their dancing success.

"Their dexterity, or the grace of ballet and esthetic artists like Theodore Kasloff or Fanchon Wolfe," said Dr. William F. Madsen of Pasadena, "is due to the fact they are knock-kneed."

"In fact, one could make the startling assertion the best dancers are knock-kneed. The anatomy of the pelvis, thighs, knees and legs put these members in knock-kneed position when they properly support weight."

Knock knees also are an asset to a linesman of a football team, Dr. Madsen said, citing Ed Widsoeth, University of Minnesota tackle. Birger Rudd of Norway, eight years a world champion ski jumper, also has them.

REFUSAL LEGAL ON REJECTION OF FOOD BY MAIL

Postmaster General States It Offered To Involve Postal Authorities

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 22.—Postmaster General Farley contended in United States district court today that the postoffice department had legal authority to stop deliveries of mailed food stuff into strike-besieged steel plants in Ohio.

Farley made the contention to a mandamus action brought against him by the Republic Steel Corporation in which the latter sought to compel the department to permit delivery of packages containing food and clothing to its plants in Niles and Warren, Ohio.

The postmaster general charged that the corporation had offered such packages for delivery primarily to involve the government in the industrial controversy.

His reply petition said the packages "were not tendered in good faith but were offered with the design and ultimate and real purpose of involving the postal authorities and employees in controversy between the realtor (the corporation) and its striking employees."

One part of Farley's answer contained a denial of the steel company's charge that an "understanding existed or exists between representatives of the union" and the postoffice department with respect to deliveries of mail matter at the plant at Niles.

A similar denial was offered in respect to the plant at Warren.

Defending the refusal by postmasters at the two cities to accept the packages for delivery, Farley said:

"It is the practice and policy of the postmaster general in exercise of his discretion to regulate the delivery and use of mail under unusual hazardous or dangerous conditions."

The refusal to accept the mail was entirely legal, he said, and was not arbitrary.

At another point Farley described the department's action as "proper, appropriate and warranted under the existing circumstances and conditions."

DETROIT, June 22.—Homer Martin, president of the United Automobile Workers union, announced today negotiations for contract amendments with General Motors Corporation will begin tomorrow.

Union sources also reported John Brophy, as personal representative of John L. Lewis, C. I. O. head, will arrive today to participate in a union inquiry into recent unauthorized strikes in Flint, Mich.

LOOK TO REGULAR AIR TRIPS OVER THE NORTH POLE

Russians Would Attempt Hop From Moscow To New York

By The Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 22.—Transpolar flights will be regular occurrences in "one or two years—maybe three" says the man who piloted Soviet Russia's plane on the 5,500 mile jaunt from Moscow to Vancouver, Wash., last weekend.

"A return flight would be easier because we would have tail winds," said Pilot Valerio Chkaloff.

"With contemporary technique and science, we think there will be regular flights over the North Pole in one or two years—maybe three," Chkaloff and his two companions, welcomed by 5,000 persons who thronged Oakland airport last evening, said they next wanted to try a Moscow-New York flight via the polar regions.

Today they looked forward to viewing the country in which they landed Sunday after an epic, 63-hour flight from the Soviet capital.

They expressed particular desire for an introduction to American industrial technique and to visit San Francisco, Chicago and New York.

The big, single-motored monoplane in which Chkaloff, Copilot Georgi Bialkoff and Navigator Alexander Bialkoff spanned the Arctic, will be dismantled at Vancouver and shipped to Russia.

Russian Ambassador Alexander Troyanovsky acted as interpreter.

Chkaloff, who flew the same plane 5,000 miles across Siberia last year as a "training" gesture, said he considered the transpolar flight the "most interesting, most difficult and most useful of any of our hops."

"First," he related, "we foresaw almost all the things we might encounter at the pole, and were prepared for them."

"Many miles of ice fields, crevices and glaciers greeted our eyes. There was no open water."

"Fitted with heavy, warm clothes, we never suffered from the 22 degrees below zero temperature. Our drinking water froze and we had to suck on ice."

"Lack of oxygen in the higher altitudes was our chief hardship. We had to bear the condition, however, because we were afraid to fly lower."

"The sphere of the magnetic pole caused certain deviations in our instruments. We foresaw this and figured our calculations accordingly."

"We used the sun compass virtually all the way and it worked very well."

BALLOT ON STRIKE VOTE AUTHORITY

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, June 22.—Representatives of the five operating railroad brotherhoods cast ballots today on authorization of a strike vote to force railroad companies to negotiate demands for a 20 per cent wage increase.

The strike vote will not necessarily mean a strike, J. A. Phillips of Cedar Rapids, president of the Order of Railway Conductors, said, but will be used to force negotiations.

Represented in the vote are the Brotherhoods of Locomotive Engineers, Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, Railway Trainmen, the Switchmen's Union, and the Order of Conductors.

The unions insist the increase, when agreed upon, be retroactive from May 1.

VETOES BILL TO CUT PENALTY ON PIN-BALL GAME

Governor Deals Another Blow To Operation of Slot Machines

By The Associated Press.

JEFFERSON CITY, June 22.—Governor Lloyd C. Stark laid down another barrage in the war on slot machines today with a veto of a bill cutting the penalty for operation of a pin-ball game or baffle board from a felony to a misdemeanor.

"This...is a bill seeking to minimize the punishment of what is today in our state a continuing felony, committed hourly and daily in open, flagrant violation of our laws," he said.

"My information is that a pin-ball game or baffle board is a type of slot machine."

"I do not believe that the punishment for the crime of setting up or operating a slot machine should be reduced."

"For the reason that this bill seeks to make what is now a pen-tentary offense—setting up and operating 'slot machines'—a mere misdemeanor, I veto house bill No. 328 and return it without my approval."

The governor directed attention to the fact present law calls for a penalty of imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not less than two nor more than five years, or by imprisonment in the county jail for not less than six months or more than a year, to be assessed on operators or keepers of slot machines, or other gambling devices.

McKittick later said he "stumbled over a slot machine" when leaving the meeting at which his address was made.

ST. LOUIS, June 22.—(P)—Tony Minella, 17, one of three men who escaped from the criminally insane ward of the city sanitarium Sunday, returned voluntarily last night.

Still at large are Raymond J. Jones, 27, and Maurice Haney, 40.

Deny Non-Strikers Admittance to Steel Plants For Work

Tube and Wilfred Sykes, assistant to the president of Inland Steel, said today that the company's policy is to keep non-striking workers out of its plants.

Quick moves were made last night and early today, and the "status quo" which the labor secretary so eagerly pleaded for prevailed, but against the angry dissent of the steel companies involved.

Scheduled reopenings of one Republic Steel plant in Youngstown, and three Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company plants in the same city, moved Gov. Martin L. Davey to order 4,800 Ohio National Guardsmen into the troubled areas today.

"There will be butchery, and bloodshed, if the mill gates open," frantically union leaders had urged the President and the governor.

First, the governor talked with the President who approved, said Davey, Charles P. Taft, chairman of the mediation board added his plea.

The steel companies, adamant, said the state must be responsible for keeping non-striking workers out of their jobs.

What will the mediation board do? was the question.

Steel executives walked out yesterday. Flatly they said "we will not sign a contract with C. I. O."

C. I. O. clowns remained on call, and the board, not indicating any discouragement over what appeared to be an insurmountable issue, went ahead with its deliberations.

The militiamen began moving in at daybreak, into Youngstown, where the mills normally employing 25,000 men have been idle since May 27; and into Warren and Niles where smoke still pours from the tall stacks in defiance of John L. Lewis' strike order.

Thus far the third time in ten days a governor of a strike-affected state resorted to the use of military power to meet a threat of violence and bloodshed.

Governor Davey, who twice before has sought strike peace by mediation only to see efforts fail, issued the troop order late last night at the specific request of Charles P. Taft II, chairman of President Roosevelt's strike mediation board.

He conferred at length by telephone with President Roosevelt, he said, before deciding finally to call out virtually half of the state's militia power. He read the full proclamation and troop order to the President who said "he thought it very fair and the proper procedure," Davey explained.

Both Republic Steel and Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company, the two corporations affected, bowed to the governor's order, but each issued sharp statements of dissent.

Enforced Status Quo
The governor's order establishes a soldier-enforced status quo, permitting those plants at Warren and Niles which have been operating to continue to do so, but forbidding the opening of plants that have been closed.

It provides also for the disarming of C. I. O. pickets.

By telephone Lewis last night begged both Governor Davey and Secretary of Labor Perkins to act to stop the "butchery" he felt sure would result if Republic and the Youngstown Sheet and Tube carried out their plans to reopen their Youngstown plants today.

"Somewhere in the country," he told them, "we believe there is authority to stop this contemplated butchery; somewhere there should be a power to restrain this madman, Tom Girdler."

Girdler, Republic's chairman who told the President's three-man mediation board at Cleveland yesterday he would not give a contract "verbal or oral" to an organization as "utterly irresponsible" as Lewis' C. I. O., left the peace conference with the spokesmen for the other affected strike companies—Inland Steel, Bethlehem Steel and Youngstown Sheet and Tube.

President Into Impasse
President Roosevelt entered the 27-day-old, 7-state strike impasse shortly before Gov. Davey's troop order. He sent telegrams from the White House to Girdler and to Frank Purnell, Sheet and Tube president, saying:

"The secretary of labor has advised me that the steel mediation board, of which Charles P. Taft is chairman, has requested you not to open your Youngstown plants tomorrow, Tuesday morning.

"In the promotion of public safety and in the interest of a reasonable and peaceful settlement which should be expected and can be attained, I earnestly join with the board in this request to you."

No Comment on Telegram
There was no comment from either steel chief on the President's telegram.

As the mediators—Taft, Dean Lloyd K. Garrison of the University of Wisconsin law school, and Edward F. McGrady, assistant secretary of labor—pushed for a peace formula today, the strike situation was this:

Ohio's Mahoning Valley (the Youngstown area): State troops in control; Youngstown plants closed and picketed; 25,000 idle; plants of Republic Steel at Niles and Warren operating with self-interested force of workers, the exact number not disclosed.

Johnstown, Pa.: Bethlehem Steel Corporation's Cambria works, normally employing 15,000 men, closed by martial law order "to avoid bloodshed."

Monroe, Mich.: Republic's Newton plant operating behind line of "registered" and unarmed pickets. (It was at Monroe on June 13 that state troops were used to assure order at a C. I. O. mass meeting.)

Chicago area: Inland Steel's plants closed; Republic plants (scene of strike disorders May 30 that resulted in 10 deaths) operating.

Governor Davey, who only last week brought strike and company leaders together in a second futile attempt to bring them to an accord, explained in a statement that he was sending the troops into the strike cauldron "to prevent riot, bloodshed and possible loss of life."

His order specified: Steel plants now operating shall continue to operate "on the same basis as they have been during the strike."

Steel plants which have closed during the strike shall remain closed.

All persons not officers shall be disarmed.

There shall be no invasion of the two affected counties by non-residents.

"We shall pursue a course of strict neutrality," the statement concluded, "for the purpose of doing justice and dealing with the entire fairness as between the contending elements in this industrial conflict, and seek with determination to preserve and protect the interests of the general public."

Charges Driving From Jobs

WASHINGTON, June 22.—Representative Hoffman (R., Mich.), accused the governor of Pennsylvania today of driving law-abiding citizens from their jobs in steel plants.

"For the first time in the history of the United States," Hoffman told the house, "armed forces of a state—acting on the order of its governor—who shall remain unnamed—have driven men—peace-loving, innocent, law-abiding men—who desire to work in their regular places of employment at their regular tasks, from the jobs which have enabled them to provide themselves and their families with the necessities of life."

Hoffman charged it is asserted that the governor of Michigan and Pennsylvania's governor "stand squarely behind" the forces of rebellion and insurrection. He accused President Roosevelt of "packing" the recently appointed steel strike mediation board named by Secretary Perkins.

Congress, Hoffman said, should intervene.

Representative Sabath (D., Ill.), in a brief reply to Hoffman declared Governor Earle of Pennsylvania was "doing the right thing."

"He's trying to help the laboring men," Sabath declared.

A charge that "John L. Lewis has the silent heavy cooperation of the administration" was made in a statement issued by Senator Holt (D., W. Va.).

The record proved, he said, "that whenever Lewis starts losing ground that the administration steps in to save his face."

Holt, long a bitter critic of Lewis and the United Mine Workers, an organization which Lewis heads, asserted "it is a known fact that John L. Lewis contributed out of the unions' dues, hundreds of thousands of dollars to the federal and state tickets."

He added that when Lewis "makes the statement that it is an obligation of the executive to pay back this debt through use of his office in industrial disputes and no definite reply is heard, then it reaches a point of extreme danger. "It would be far better if this money were repaid and the obligation wiped off the slate," he said.

Letter From The Water Company Sent To Mayor

purposes and the rates authorized in the above case, followed the completion of the extensive plan of improvements to the water supply system, pumping, transmission and distribution facilities which was started in 1924. These improvements were made in accordance with agreement between the Citizens' Committee appointed by the City, the Engineers selected by this committee, and the company, for the purpose of obtaining an adequate and dependable water supply and water system for Sedalia and its inhabitants.

"The rate making value established by the Commission at June 30, 1926 brought down to December 31, 1936 by giving effect to the subsequent additions and betterments, retirements and depreciation, all as reported annually to the Public Service Commission, is $1,339,260.62. While we do not accept this amount as representing the actual fair present value of the property of the company due to increased cost of materials and labor, however, we have used the same for the purpose of the following computations. The net revenue available for return for the calendar year 1936 after giving effect to the rate reduction effective August 1, 1936 was $76,443.54 or a rate return of 5.707%. Adjusting the above net revenue of $76,443.54, following the procedure usually used by the Commission, by spreading the increase in revenues due to the drought of 1936 and the increase in extraordinary maintenance expenditures caused by the extreme cold weather in February and March of 1936 over a five year period, the adjusted net revenue available for return for 1936 was $77,871.62 or a rate of return of 5.814%.

We must also keep the fact in mind that taxes and operating costs of practically every kind are steadily increasing. The present revenues and operating conditions make it impossible for the company to further reduce its rates at this time.

"In connection with the valuation made for the City by Warren and Van Pragg, engineers, we wish to state that the report fails to include values for certain items of property, has shown excessive rates of depreciation on many items of property and has failed to make proper allowance for commissions and repairs. We must advise you that the company cannot reimburse the City for the amount of $4,000 paid to Warren and Van Pragg, Inc. for their services.

"It is our purpose to continue our policy of operating the business of this company in the most economical manner possible consistent with the maintenance of good service to the public, and to reduce rates as the earnings warrant such reductions. Certainly we cannot do this if our efforts at economical operations are offset and nullified by the imposition of extra costs of valuations and rate investigations.

"We regret that we cannot accede to your requests, and feel assured that upon reconsideration of the subject, you and the members of your Council will understand and appreciate that our position is fair and reasonable."

OBITUARIES

Earl Lamb
John Earl Lamb, 27 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Park Lamb of 709 West Third street, passed away suddenly at a hospital in Paducah, Kentucky, Monday night.

According to information received here, Mr. Lamb, an employee of the Illinois Central railroad, had been working in the shops when he suffered a heart attack. He was rushed to the hospital and died a few minutes after arriving there.

Mr. Lamb served his apprenticeship as a machinist at the Missouri Pacific shops in Sedalia. He went to Paducah on July 6, 1936 and was working there as an electric welder.

Mr. Lamb was born in Pittsburg, Kansas, February 1, 1910 and with his parents came to Sedalia in August of 1925. He attended the Martha Letts Junior High school after which he went to work at the shops. He was married November 16, 1936 to Miss Mamie Porterfield of this city.

Surviving him are his widow who was at his bedside at the time of his passing, a seven year old son J. D. Lamb of Jacksonville, Ill., by a previous marriage, and by his parents Mr. and Mrs. Park Lamb and one brother Merle Lamb and a sister Miss Etta Lamb both of the family home 709 West Third street.

The body accompanied by the widow and several friends will arrive in Sedalia Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock and be taken to the McLaughlin Funeral Chapel and later to the home of his parents. Funeral services will be Thursday afternoon the time and place to be announced.

Funeral of Roy M. Cook

The funeral for Roy M. Cook, former Sedalian, who passed away at Albuquerque, N. M., was held at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the McLaughlin Funeral Chapel with the Reverend Ralph Emerson Hurd, pastor of the Epworth Methodist Episcopal church, officiating.

Friends of the family served as pall bearers.

Burial was in the Memorial Park cemetery.

VOTES SIX TIMES IN NOV. ELECTION AT KANSAS CITY

Testimony Given in Ninth Kansas City Vote Fraud Trial

KANSAS CITY, June 22.—(AP)—A government witness testified in Kansas City's ninth federal vote fraud conspiracy trial Monday that Don Pasqualino, Democratic precinct worker and one of the defendants, voted under an assumed name at last November's general election.

Mrs. Helen Johnson, a Republican precinct clerk, pointed out Pasqualino as a man who entered the polling place and gave his name as "Mr. Merdoo." Told there was no one on the registration books by that name, Mrs. Johnson said, Pasqualino said he meant McMerdoo and voted under that name.

Over defense objections, Mrs. Johnson told jurors she had seen Pasqualino vote "at least a half dozen times" at the preceding primary election.

She added that Pasqualino held his hand under his coat on the late election day as he told her "to do as you have been told in counting the ballots."

DAIRYMEN ADVISED ON PASTURE CARE

Fertilization Is Regarded as the Best Plan.

By Carl B. Bender, Professor of Dairy Husbandry, New Jersey College of Agriculture—WNU Service.

If the old myth that "cows talk at midnight on New Year's eve" were true, many a cow would have advised her owner long ago that pasture should be considered a cash crop.

Most farmers do not consider pasture as a cash crop, since they never actually see any money being returned directly from the pasture. But the cow is the middleman in this case. It is because of this lack of understanding on the part of dairymen that pasture lands are the most neglected sources of farm revenue.

A complete pasture fertilization program, which includes an application of nitrogen fertilization at the rate of 250 to 300 pounds per acre in the spring, brings returns in cash four to six weeks after the fertilizer is applied to the soil.

Experimental work has been tried out on a demonstration basis. The results have been uniformly good. More dairymen should make plans this spring to treat their pastures the same as they treat their other farm crops, and thereby get more and cheaper milk from their dairy cows.

Farm Purchases

Figures show that in 1936 over 15,000 farm properties were sold at a figure of $35,200,000 by the federal land banks as compared with 9,700 properties valued at $28,100,000 in 1935. Approximately 75 per cent of the farms sold by the land banks last year were bought by farm operators. During the past three years farm operators have largely displaced non-farmers as heaviest purchasers of federal land bank properties, officials have pointed out.

Pasture Improvement

Grazing management, soil conservation, and the use of fertilizer are recommended practices in a pasture improvement program. Rotational grazing is advocated for dairy farms. It is recognized that close grazing is essential in some areas to encourage growth of white clover. However, an inch or two growth is about the limit for closeness of grazing. Undergrazing is undesirable because it allows the growth to become too coarse and it encourages growth of weeds.

Raising Geese

One acre of rough, unprofitable land is enough on which to raise a fine flock of geese but there should be a small stream of running water. If this ground is enclosed with wire netting, the geese will be by themselves, and not bother other poultry, for they are apt to be quarrelsome at feeding time. Geese should have only ground grain, though they thrive on oats after they are grown. Geese have no crop in which to soften their food so wheat and corn are not suitable feed for them.

Hail destroys an annual average of $11,000,000 in United States crops, livestock and other property.

North Carolina farm boys who participated in the state corn-growing contest last year produced three times as much corn per acre as the average adult grower.

ASK REMOVAL OF MURRAY FROM A CITY PAYROLL

Resolution For Such a Move Offered Council at Kansas City

By The Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, June 22.—A resolution to remove the name of Matthew S. Murray, Missouri WPA administrator, from the city payroll and to instruct the city manager to demand a refund of approximately $19,000 from Murray was introduced in the city council last night by Councilman Frank H. Backstrom.

The resolution, which also called for a reprimand of City Manager H. F. McElroy because he had not disclosed the fact Murray was on both the city and government payrolls, was referred to the finance committee without debate.

Backstrom's action followed discovery about 10 days ago that Murray had been receiving $8,000 a year from the city as director of public works and $6,000 a year from the government since he became state WPA administrator May 13, 1935.

McElroy said when the matter became public that he regarded Murray's services in an advisory and supervisory capacity as essential to the city and that Murray had devoted two or three days a week to city affairs while WPA administrator.

Backstrom asserted it was his understanding Murray was to have a leave of absence without pay.

"Now," he said, "we find that he has been carrying on the payroll at $8,000 a year in salary, plus $1,500 a year for expenses, making a total of about $19,000 that the city has paid him during his leave."

Backstrom said he believed it contrary to the state constitution for Murray to be on the city's payroll while on the government payroll.

Councilman D. S. Adams, seconded the resolution.

"It is not a question," Adams said, "of Murray's ability or whether he is worth so much to the city or the state, or whether the combined salaries are too much or too little. When the matter of his leave of absence came up two years ago, the inference was left with the council that when Murray left he would be paid by the government. I believe the question of his salary should have come before the council to see whether it would be proper to carry him on both payrolls."

Councilman D. S. Adams, seconded the resolution.

RETURN FOR VISIT AFTER BEING AWAY 39 YEARS

After residing in Paonia, Colo., for a period of thirty-nine years, Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. O'Bannon, former Pettis Countyans, and their grandson, Delbert, are here for a visit of about ten days with his brother, Allen O'Bannon, and family, and also with other relatives and friends in the county.

They are en route to Stamford, Conn., to visit their son, Thomas F. O'Bannon, and on returning will go to Monticello, Ark., to visit Mr. O'Bannon's aunt, Mrs. J. M. O'Bannon, thence to Tulsa, for a visit with a cousin, Walter O'Bannon.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Bannon are both former residents of the La Monte vicinity.

APPROVE LOANS TO FARMERS IN PETTIS COUNTY

Resettlement Administration Agrees to Lend $24,500 for Improvements

INDIANAPOLIS, June 22.—(AP)—Philip G. Beck, chief of the resettlement division of the regional Resettlement Administration office here, announced Monday approval of loans totalling $24,500 to seven farmers for location on the Osage farm project in Pettis County, Mo.

The loans differ from those previously made in that farmers will pay for construction of their own homes through the 40-year, three per cent government loans. Homes will be constructed and other improvements made by private contractors under RA supervision.

The new units are in addition to 34 farmsteads now being improved, and only two more of the new type loans will be approved, Beck said.

The approved applications were selected from those now living on RA submarginal land use projects, those now living on land purchased for Osage farms, and rehabilitation loan clients who have proved their ability during the past four years, Beck said.

James Muster, Sedalia, is community manager of the Osage farms.

The resettlement administration is now working on thirty units, building houses and barns, digging wells and generally improving the sites.

The loans which were approved by the RA were made to farmers who will improve their farms themselves instead of buying already improved farms.

FREEDOM MENACED SAYS DR. ANGELL

By The Associated Press.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 22.—Dr. James Rowland Angell of Yale said today that liberty and democracy in the United States are in danger despite the "dogmatic assurance" to the contrary of "political medicine men."

The retiring president of the university cautioned also in his prepared address against winding up with a "bastard democracy."

Dr. Angell asserted that freedom is menaced by many forces besides the dictator, and said that "tyranny is not less tyranny when exercised by a dictator, or an irresponsible government bureau, or a less responsible labor boss, than when imposed by an economic royalist."

Using the "integrity and independence of the courts" as the main basis for his warning of danger to freedom and democracy, Dr. Angell asserted:

"One would like to accept at their face value the dogmatic assurances of our political medicine men that neither liberty nor democracy are in peril in our land. To be sure, if one conceives democracy as a system that accords to numerical majorities, no matter how slender, the right to exercise un-

Stewart Avenue Market took undisputed possession of first place in the American Division of the City Softball League by defeating Shryack-Wright, 9 to 5, last night at Liberty Park.

A five-run spree in the second inning enabled the Marketers to chalk up their third straight victory and hand Shryack-Wright its first loss of the season. The Wholesalers filled the bases several times, but Alpert, the Stewart's strikeout artist, pitched himself out of the tight spots.

The Katy moved into a tie with Shryack-Wright for second place by nosing out the Columbian Club, 7 to 6, in a game which was close throughout. The Columbians out-hit their opponents but loose fielding and poor base running proved costly to their cause.

The other game of the evening saw a rapidly improving Savage Produce team turn back the N. Y. A. aggregation, 7 to 2, behind the pitching of Spieler who had the losers blanked until the final inning. The victory moved the Producers out of the league cellar and advanced them to a tie with the Columbian Club for fourth place.

The National Division takes over tonight with a three-game program topped by the meeting of the Dixels and the Missouri Pacific Boosters.

Florence Defeats Syracuse
Florence defeated Syracuse by a score of 5 to 0 in a game played on the Tipton diamond.

Seigel, on the mound for Florence, allowed ten hits but was invincible in the pinches, striking out fourteen Syracuse batters.

Schack hurled a good game for the losers but a big Florence inning that yielded four runs clinched the game.

J.
Radio—Ring-side broadcast on national (NBC) hookup.

Pre-Battle Statements

CHICAGO, June 22.—(P)—The pre-battle statements of heavyweight Champion James J. Braddock and Challenger Joe Louis.
BRADDOCK—"I have never felt better in my life. My legs are good, my breathing apparatus all right, and I have no mental worries. I predict I will knock out Louis in eight rounds. I will knock him out sooner if he fights the way I expect he will. I'm going out there to hit him just as hard and as often as I can, from the first bell until he goes down."

LOUIS—"I'm going in there to win and win as quickly as I can. I'm not predicting I will knock out Braddock in any particular round. I simply must win this one. I don't know whether it will be a long fight or a short one, but that makes no difference. I'm trained for one round or for 15 rounds, but a short fight is much better."

Dizzy Misses Chance to Pop Off; Ducks Kiwanis Meeting at Alton, Ill.

By The Associated Press.
ST. LOUIS, Ill., June 22.—Jerome Herman Dean, the loquacious St. Louis Cardinal pitcher, turned down a perfectly good opportunity to "pop off" in his best manner last night.

Dizzy was scheduled for an after dinner speech before the Alton, Ill., Kiwanis club. It was his reported remarks before a Belleville, Ill., church group that led to his recent trouble with Ford Frick, president of the National League.

Old Diz just didn't show up at Alton. He could not be reached for a statement as to why he failed to appear.

THE SPORTS ROUNDUP

By EDDIE BRIETZ
CHICAGO, June 22.—(P)—Joe Louis may beat Jimmy Braddock, but he'll have to do it early.... Records show Joe isn't a strong finisher.... Maybe that's because he's seldom had to be.... But in his past bouts which went the limit he was getting worse toward the end instead of better.... Unless he can tag the Irishman in the first five rounds, this corner believes Braddock will go on to win, possibly just as decisively as Max Schmeling did.... Anyway, Braddock is a darned good long shot and just a whole lot of the experts who picked Louis in the Sunday papers would give their right eye if he could shift.

Too bad you can't go to the Giant-Cub game this afternoon, then get back to Comiskey park before the big push.... The fight has the town in such a frenzy the arrival of the Giants yesterday was scarcely noticed.... Hotels are jammed to the rafters.... You can't get into a night joint.... Everybody and his brother is raking in the dough.... Not likely the gate will gross more than $700,000, but even at that figure everybody stands to come out on top.

Louis has bet a sports writer friend a plate of fried chicken Braddock will not hit him with a right all evening.... Before leaving for Chicago, Braddock was cheered by a telegram from home that his oldest son, Jay, has been promoted in school.... On the way down from Grand Beach, a moth flew into the champion's car.... "Oi, oi," shouted manager-chauffeur Joe Gould, narrowly missing a truck, we're in.... When moths come to see you they bring luck.... A guy told me that last night.... Five hundred orphans from a South Bend institution will see the fight as guests of the B'Nai B'rith—and from $16.50 seats, too.

Gertrude Eberle, the channel swimmer, took a talent test in New York the other day and discovered she has a real good soprano voice.... So she's been training again—until he goes down.... George Barton, veteran sports editor of the Minneapolis Tribune, says Minnesota is a sure fire bet to go through another football season undefeated.... Slip Madigan of St. Mary's agreed with George.... Rip Collins, Cub first sacker, who is Jim Braddock's favorite ball player, will see the fight from the front row as the champion's guest.

THREE NEW MEN SIGNED FOR MAT SHOW THURSDAY

Tony Morilli, Ray Villmar and Turk Powell Make Local Debuts

The Elks' wrestling program for Thursday night at Liberty Park was completed today with the addition of two supporting bouts for the main attraction which will send Mike Kiolonis, New York Greek, against Lon Chaney, Indianapolis, in a finish match.

The semi-windup will introduce a newcomer in Tony Morilli, 187-pound Philadelphia, who Promoter Oliver Gideon believes will prove one of the most colorful performers ever brought to the local ring. Morilli, according to Gideon, has been enjoying great success in Oklahoma, Texas and California recently. He will oppose Sterling Davis, a favorite with local fans, in a two out of three falls engagement limited to 45 minutes.

Two new performers will hold sway in the opening bout when both Turk Powell and Ray Villmar will make their first appearances here. They are down for one fall or 30 minutes.

The Kiolonis - Chaney match should prove a real battle according to the promoter who says the Greek charges Chaney double crossed him

INTER CITY GOLFERS HERE WEDNESDAY FOR THIRD ROUND OF PLAY

Ten-man golf teams from the Jefferson City, Columbia, Fulton and Sedalia country clubs will meet here Wednesday afternoon in the third round of the annual inter-city tournament.

Play probably will start about 1:30 o'clock and there will be no charge for the gallery.

Jefferson City is leading the field after matches at Columbia and Fulton with a total of 604½ points. Fulton is second with 537. Sedalia third with 521 and Columbia last with 497½.

The final round is scheduled to be played at Jefferson City June 30.

champion. Louis, on the strength of what he has done with his dynamite-fists, is held 5 to 2 over Braddock despite his knockout by Max Schmeling and his unfavorable showing against Bob Pastor, who spotted him 20 pounds.

The fight is scheduled to go 15 rounds, or less. It may start any time between 7 and 9 P. M., Central Standard Time, depending on weather conditions, which forecasters say will be fair with moderate temperatures. If rain threatens, however, the principals can be sent into the ring any time after 7 o'clock. With weather conditions favorable, the champion and his challenger will start throwing punches at each other's chin some time between 8:30 and 9 P. M.

If rainy weather is encountered before the gates of the park are thrown open at 5 o'clock, the contest will be postponed until tomorrow night.

The champion and challenger, both fighting on percentage, also will share in the $50,000 paid for the radio rights and $25,000 for motion picture contracts. Braddock will get 50 per cent of the total gate after state and federal taxes have been deducted and Louis 17½ per cent.

Both men were ready to weigh in at noon today at the Auditorium Theatre, and then hide out to await time to go to the battle ground. They must be there at 7 P. M. Braddock figures to scale 197, with Louis about 199.

Champ Idle Since Baer Bout.
Braddock, idle since he defeated Max Baer for the championship in 1935, is strictly the "underdog." The lines of the experts are definitely drawn. They said either Louis would win by a quick knockout or Braddock would take down the decision, with a few rating him chances for a knockout victory.

The titleholder is conceded to be a better boxer than Louis. He has a better left hand for jabbing and is rated an all-around more superior ring general. He moves smartly around an opponent and while not given to running away from anyone, the chances are that he'll keep out of the way of Louis' famous right, just as he circled away from Baer's Sunday punch.

There is no hope of a sell-out, with its million-dollar gate, the dream of all fight promoters since Dempsey and Gene Tunney drew 104,934 spectators to their famous "long count" engagement at Soldier Field just 10 years ago. That battle drew $2,658,660, the all-time record. Both Dempsey and Tunney, the two most colorful figures of all living ex-champions, will be in the crowd tonight.

Dempsey Favors Braddock
Dempsey picks Braddock on his experience and boxing ability; Tunney says Louis will win on youth and punching power.

Tickets for the bout have been scaled at $27.50, $16.50, $11 and $6, including taxes, for reserved seats. The general admission, at $3.50, went on sale this afternoon. Strangely enough, the highest priced tickets were in greatest demand.

The greater proportion of tonight's crowd will be from outside of Chicago. Two members of President Roosevelt's cabinet—Postmaster James A. Farley and Attorney General Homer Cummings—will attend. Rubbing elbows with them will be governors of 10 states, congressmen, senators, mayors, millionaires, prominent social figures, stars of the stage and screen and plain, ordinary fight fans.

The referee will be named by the Illinois State Athletic Commission just before the two principals climb into the ring. Two judges will be named at the same time. Their identities will not be revealed until they themselves are notified to clamber through the ropes. The best guess is that "Little Phil" Collins, with no political affiliations and with a reputation for honesty and ability, will be the third man in the ring. There will be a "no foul" rule governing the bout, which means that the battle cannot be won or lost on a foul.

ANOTHER HOIST TO WHEAT MARKET

CHICAGO, June 22.—(AP)—Reports of huge losses of spring crop in North Dakota hoisted Chicago wheat prices sharply anew in late dealings today. R. O. Cronwell, a leading Chicago grain expert, wired that between 2,000,000 and 3,000,000 acres of North Dakota wheat had been lost, out of a normal planting. In Canada, he reported that wheat fields were also badly blown out, thinned and stunted. At the close, wheat was 1 1/2 to 2 cents above yesterday's finish, July $11.13 1/2, corn 1/4 cent off to 1/2 cent up, July $1.15 1/2, Sept. $1.15 1/2, Sept. $1.02 1/2 to $1.03 1/2, and oats varying from 1/2 cent setback to 1/2 cent advance.

NEW YORK, June 22.—(AP)—The stock market took its cue from steels today, picking up fractions to a point or so.

The trading pulse quickened a little over yesterday and shares sauntered quietly forward, although the rise was not uniform.

Traders took courage from efforts to arrive at a peaceful solution of the steel strikes. They bought, timidly at the start, and although they seemed irresolute for a time during the afternoon, most of them stayed on the buying side.

Here and there were signs of short covering, brokers reported. This was induced, some said, by the calm way the market has digested an ample budget of disturbing news lately, including the fall of the Blum cabinet in France and disappointing railroad earnings.

Transactions approximated 550,000 shares.

BAN THE READING OF "MERCHANT OF VENICE"

BOSTON, June 22.—(AP)—Classroom reading of Shakespeare's "Merchant of Venice" was banned today in Boston public schools as a result of complaints that the character of "Shylock" was offensive to the Jewish race.

The school committee decided students could select the play for voluntary reading but prohibited classroom discussion.

MOTHER HELPED BY KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN

"I have suffered from terrible constipation since the birth of my first child. I tried everything. Very reluctantly, I tried your ALL-BRAN with no faith in it at all."

"Much to my surprise, I have not had to take any medicine since starting to use ALL-BRAN."—Mrs. Doris Eyre King, 16 Abbey Road, Oxford, England.

Common constipation is usually due to meals low in "bulk." Kellogg's ALL-BRAN supplies this needed "bulk."

Within the body, this cereal absorbs twice its weight in water, forms a soft mass, gently sponges out the system. ALL-BRAN also furnishes vitamin B to tone up the intestines, and iron for the blood.

Enjoy this food instead of taking weakening pills and drugs. Serve as a cereal with milk or fruits, or cook into recipes.

ALL-BRAN is sold by your grocer. Made and guaranteed by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Mothersbaugh and John Thomas of Sedalia, Mr. and Mrs. Jewell Laughlin and son Kenneth of Windsor, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Lynch and family, Mr. and Mrs. Shelton Ball of Versailles, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Mothersbaugh and five sons, Mr. and Mrs. Frances Mothersbaugh and family, Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Mothersbaugh, Mrs. Ivy Mothersbaugh and two daughters, Mrs. Lon Smith and Billie Harned and sister.

NAME FOR THIRD
SON OF LINDBERGH'S

By The Associated Press.

LONDON, June 22.—The registration of the birth of Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh's infant son disclosed today he had been named Land Morrow Lindbergh.

(Lindbergh's mother's maiden name was Evangeline Lodge Land. Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh was Anne Morrow. The Lindberghs' second son, Jon, now 4 years old, was named after one of Col. Lindbergh's ancestors. Their first son, Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr., was kidnapped and killed.)

The document filed with the registrar of births and deaths of Marylebone Borough, confirmed that the boy was born May 12 at the fashionable London Clinic nursing home in Devonshire Place.

The birth of the Lindberghs' third son was not known until a relative of the family in the United States made public portions of a letter she had received announcing the arrival. Even then the details were not disclosed.

NEW LEGION GROUP
ELECTS OFFICERS

Sons of the American Legion, Pettis County Post No. 16, held an organization meeting Monday night in the old post office building and elected Jimmy Myers as captain.

Other officers elected were: Jack McCullough, first lieutenant; Wesley Horn, second lieutenant; Harry Moore, adjutant; John C. Whitman, finance officer; Wallace Hunt, sergeant at arms; Bob McCullough, chaplain; Stanton Hudson, Jr., historian.

Meetings will be held on the second Wednesday of each month at 7:30 o'clock in the Legion hall. The first regular meeting will be held July 14.

RAPID PROGRESS MADE IN WORK AT FAIR GROUNDS

Favorable weather is making it possible for the work being done at the state fair grounds to progress rapidly, and the grounds and buildings are to be in first-class condition, ready for the fair August 21-28.

B. J. Bahner is superintendent in charge of the entire WPA project for the improvement of the grounds and buildings.

CAUTION AGAINST CATTLE TETANY

Pettis County farmers are cautioned by County Agent J. U. Morris to be on the watch for the appearance among their cattle of grass tetany, a disease with symptoms quite similar to those of milk fever. This disease is reported to Dr. A. W. Uren, extension veterinarian for the Missouri College of Agriculture, as appearing in many sections of the state and affecting cattle which were wintered on scanty rations and turned onto grass in the spring in a thin condition.

Grass tetany is generally believed to result from excessive eating of young and luxuriant grass. For some reason which is not known, there is a lowering of the calcium in the blood from its normal level and a corresponding rise in the amount of phosphorus in the blood in the animals affected.

The symptoms are very similar to an animal affected with milk fever, although the symptoms may vary in different animals. The first symptom probably noticed is nervousness, incoordination of muscular movement, excitability, rapidly followed by a paralysis. The animal does not run a temperature, although the heart action is very pronounced and the beating of the heart may be heard from a distance of a yard or more. The animal usually turns its head round to the side, assuming the characteristic posture seen in milk fever. In cases observed there has been a dirtyish appearing discharge from the nostrils, the mucous membranes of the mouth have a parboiled appearance and are very anemic or pale in color. The animal does not live long after symptoms of complete paralysis develop.

Treatment for the disease is the same as for milk fever, using calcium gluconate injected intravenously. It is recommended that a veterinarian be called to administer all treatment. Treatment is successful in a large percentage of cases where given before the disease has advanced to its later stages.
